Biography

Ariana Siller holds an Of Counsel role at Kelley Kronenberg, specializing in general liability-related matters. With a strong background in insurance defense and personal injury civil litigation, Ariana brings a unique perspective to her practice, having worked on cases from both the plaintiff and defense sides.

Before joining Kelley Kronenberg, Ariana honed her litigation skills by practicing personal injury law, where she represented countless individuals who were injured or suffered losses due to the negligence or misconduct of others. Although she recently transitioned to the defense of such claims, Ariana's dedication to obtaining justice for her clients is unwavering. She is known for her exceptional ability to collaborate with experts such as physicians/surgeons, biomechanical engineers, and accident reconstructionists, effectively extrapolating beneficial testimony, when needed. Ariana gathers precise and compelling evidence to support strategic case development by leveraging their expertise.

Ariana earned Bachelor of Arts degrees in Psychology and Law & Society from Purdue University, providing her with a solid foundation in understanding human behavior and the societal impact of the law. Ariana went on to obtain her Juris Doctor degree from Stetson University College of Law, where she distinguished herself by earning a Certificate of Concentration in International Law, Stetson's Leadership Certificate, and the William F. Blews Pro-Bono Award.
