Biography

Scott Hale is an Attorney in Kelley Kronenberg's Real Estate Division, focusing his practice on mortgage foreclosure and default services. He brings experience in creditor's rights matters, real estate litigation, and complex title issues.

Prior to joining Kelley Kronenberg, Scott worked as an associate attorney at a law firm where he represented clients in creditor's rights matters including mortgage foreclosure, real estate litigation, and loss mitigation proceedings, drafted appellate briefs submitted to the Indiana Court of Appeals, resolved complex title issues, and represented banks and financial institutions in Chapter 7 and Chapter 13 bankruptcy proceedings. Previously, he operated a solo law practice focused on estate planning, probate, and elder law.

Scott earned his Bachelor of Arts in Political Science from Augustana College. He received his Juris Doctor from Marquette University Law School, and was a member of the Pro Bono Society completing over one hundred twenty hours of pro bono service.
